About the Artists

Zu-Zu

Chase

Big Paw McGraw

Zu-Zu- Domestic Long Haired Kitten.

Age: 8 weeks. Her name means "Kitten who Purrs Too Much". Her art is inspired by her mentality of "everything looks better if you purr while you work." Wise words for one so young.

Kookie- Domestic short haired cat.

Age: 2 years. A mother of one, she is nursing her son, Snookie, for the next few weeks. Her name was inspired by the corkscrew tail she happily carries behind her. Her art is a reflection of her current life. Busy, yet disordered. The work of a mother is never done. She admits she cannot wait to be spayed and on her way to a new home.

Marie- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 12 weeks. Marie's stay at WARL was brief. She was adopted soon after the completion of her work.

Harvey- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 1 year. His work was inspired by his teenaged agnst at being homeless during "the best years of his life." He also admits to being under the influence of catnip while working on his painting.

June- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 9 weeks. Her work was discussed heartily with her brother, Benny, before she began. Slightly confused as to how to begin, her work came out beautifully. Wouldn't you agree? Her new parents agree that she is a wonderful little kitty.

Chase- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 7 weeks. Chase's name is appropriate for his attitude: run at full speed until you stop at a wall. He chose his colors to reflect on his outlook at life. A kitten full of life and fun, he was adopted and is happily climbing curtains.

Big Paw McGraw- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 14 weeks. B.P.'s name came from his feet. Large and in charge was his cattitude. The bigger the feet the better the painting, he says, and the better chance of catching something.

Spot- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 13 weeks. Spot told us his story-at least 100 times a day. He was never short on words-or meows. Found as a stray, his work inspires us all to talk more, work less.

Roland- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 10 months. Roland was one to grab your attention. If not by his good looks and charm, then by his paws and claws as you walked by. Constantly the center of attention, that is how his work will stand out.

Tiger- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 1 year. Tiger, the epitome of grace, is a very affectionate boy. He is one to look pleadingly at you until you begin to sit and chat. He shows his contentment through his purr. Tiger is still looking for his forever home.

Max- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 3. Max was a dog trapped in a cat's body. It's not often you find a cat that plays fetch and catch, but that is Max. He was rather rough and tumble and left many things unfinished. Like his artwork.

Felon- Domestic Medium Haired Cat.

Age: 6 weeks. Felon's work was inspired through childhood play. His playful prints are accentuated throughout the work. Felon has abandoned painting for a home.

Frazzle- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 7 weeks. Frazzle was the big bully brother in the litter. His work is proud and stands out for all to see. His words of advice: Walk tall, stand strong, and eat faster than your brothers and sisters.

Benji- Domestic Short Haired Cat.

Age: 1 1/2 years. Benji, the original artist of the group, did not need much help to begin his work. Through natural talent and ability, Benji's work has inspired more cats to paint. His color choice showed the hope of spring with the dreary days of looking through bars. Benji has since been adopted and cheered up drastically.

Ollie- Domestic Short Haired Kitten. Age: 6

weeks. Ollie began his artwork very early. He was the envy of the litter when he was selected to put his pawprint on the world through his painting. Ollie was recently adopted in his new home, where we are sure he is purring contently in the lap of his new mom.
